Working Association Will Be Formed at Meeting of Graduates of Medical School—Torchlight Costume Parade Another Interesting Feature.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., June 11.—Final exercises of the ninetieth session of the University of Virginia began at 11 o'clock this morning, when the baccalaureate sermon was preached in the chapel by Dr. Hugh Black, professor of practical theology at the Union Theological Seminary, New York.

The members of the graduating classes and faculty assembled at the rotunda and marched to the chapel. To-night the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association—the oldest college Young Men's Christian Association in the world—was held in Cabell Hall. The address was delivered by Rev. Ernest M. Stires, D. D., rector of St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, New York, a Virginia by birth and an alumnus of the university. The annual report of the association was read by E. E. Neff, president and acting secretary.

For the alumni, finals proper will start to-morrow morning with a business meeting of the University of Virginia medical alumni, who will be permanently organized into a working association. Virginia has 1,000 medical alumni and several hundred are expected to be on hand this week.

In the afternoon the alumni barbecue will be held at Sunnyside, the home of William R. Duke, just north of the city, and at night there will be the Phi Beta Kappa address by Rabbi Edward N. Calisch, of Richmond. Cale Young Rice, the well-known author and poet of Louisville, Ky., will read the Phi Beta Kappa poem.

TO REVIEW PARADE

A feature of the evening program will be a torchlight costume pageant, which, led by the reunion classes of 1911 and 1913, will march up the lawn to the rotunda, where the procession will be reviewed by President Alderman, Armistead C. Gordon, of Staunton, rector of the university, and Senator John Sharp Williams, '72, president of the general alumni association.

"I Am Dignified" Says the SUIT

IN the eternal fitness of things my mistress finds me essential to the needs of travel. I am distinguished. I inspire respect. She has chosen me to reflect her personality and charm, and so I am proud.

Oh! it offends me to the soul when I see the ill-informed in public places—in trains and stations and hotels, clad in informal dress. So ever carefully such dress is worn, yet must it smack of informality; of the loss of dignity and hence of lowered self-respect.

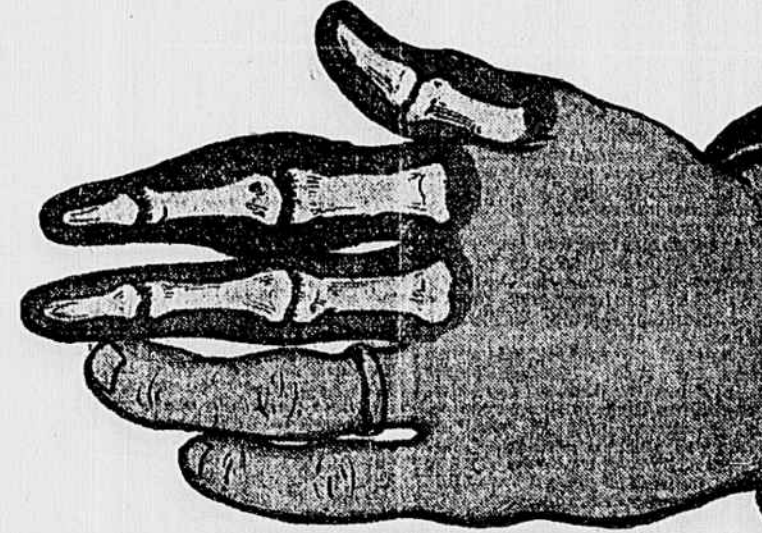

Thus I am very close in my mistress's regard, and yet, great as is the admiration we inspire, more dear to her by far is character. And because of character she never is without me in public travel. I know it, and so I am proud.

SAYS ENLARGED RHEUMATIC JOINTS DISAPPEAR UNDER TREATMENT

VAR-NE-SIS REPRESENTATIVE AT LOCAL STORE

Advices Joints Be Kept Warm—Protect Hands From Cold Winds and Cold Water.

The question has often been asked whether the mis-shapen finger joints due to rheumatism would return to normal, said W. A. Varney, the discoverer of Var-ne-sis.

I am going to answer this question by producing evidence that proves conclusively that they do. I want to suggest that it is important to keep the joints warm and protect the hands from cold winds and water.

Take the case of Mr. Holden, whose fingers were bent and deformed. To see him to-day you could not believe he ever had rheumatism. Again, Mrs. Breed's fingers were actually useless, they were so stiff and deformed. She is well to-day; fingers perfect. Mrs. McMaster is another woman who regained the use of her fingers, as well as other joints, through Var-ne-sis.

Mrs. Coyle's fingers were almost rigid—they have gone back to normal. Mr. Nelson's fingers were deformed to a marked degree—you'd never believe he had rheumatism. Nurse Nightingale's fingers were crooked and deformed—they are now normal, and she gives all the credit to Var-ne-sis.

Hundreds have told me that Var-ne-sis has been the means of their crooked and deformed joints returning to normal. In this form of rheumatism not only are the hands misshapen, but other joints gradually become involved. The disease may remain quiet for awhile, but there will be acute symptoms from time to time—enough in the early cases to remind you that the disease is creeping to other joints. If neglected, the fingers become so stiff that it will be impossible to open or close the hand, the knees draw up in the extreme cases and the patient is often helpless.

Physicians will tell you that they can do nothing for this disease, and it is the same form of rheumatism that Var-ne-sis has been so successful in.

No other preparation produces such evidence. Why? A description of the above cases will be sent by addressing W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

Tear this out and mail.

Var-ne-sis is a simple vegetable preparation, and does not contain the ordinary drugs so often given for rheumatism.

The Var-ne-sis man is meeting the public at Tragle Drug Company's store every day, from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M., to explain more about this remarkable preparation Var-ne-sis.
